

PATRONS GROVE

A Special Place of Renewal

Established in 2020 in honor of Anne P. Sidamon-Eristoff, a founding BRF Board member, "Patrons Grove" is a special place in the heart of Black Rock Forest that reclaims an area decimated by invasives through generous donations from Friends of the Forest.

The native ash trees in this location were killed by the invasive Emerald Ash Borer, resulting in an increased growth of non-native invasive plants. The two-acre area is being restored through the planting of a diverse mix of carbon-sequestering native trees, and by careful management of the remaining mature trees. The first tree planted was a large red oak (Quercus rubra) honoring Anne Sidamon-Eristoff's legacy. The Grove features a gentle walking path and will mature into an exceptionally diverse, forest stand for future enjoyment, education, and study. Diverse forest stands such as this help promote and sustain a highly biodiverse forest community. Additionally, since our native trees absorb and store much more carbon than most invasives, Patrons Grove demonstrates a solution to managing invasives which also combats climate change.
